SATURDAY, OCT. 31, 1896.

A campaign story to the effect that Mr. Bryan had shortly before his nomination applied for a job as theatrical press agent in New York turns out to have originated in a jest. Supposing it had been true, it is hard to see why it should have hurt the candidate. Any kind of a respectable opening for a bright and ambitious man in the great metropolis of the Union might be worth seeking as giving an opportunity for the conquest of fame and power. The late distinguished British statesman, W. H. Smith, began life in London keeping a news stand. Lord Salisbury was Abraham Lincoln's rail splitter in his youth and a country lawyer later.

From a published report it is seen that there has been a large increase the past year in both the passenger and freight traffic of the Oahu Railway. Lately it was noted in this paper that the Circuit Court, after an exhibit made of the company's business, promptly gave its approval of the investment of trust funds in bonds of the road. The voice of the croaker, which sounded high at the opening of the railway a few years ago, is now very low in the land. Railways even in these small islands develop business for themselves. When this road is pushed along until it makes the circuit of Oahu, there will accompany it a development of now latent resources which will astonish the inhabitants.

A paragrapher in the Shanghai Mercury gets off the following, which it would be gratifying to note was not applicable to Honolulu:

Dr. Maurier has an admirable scene in Trilby to illustrate what happens now and then in Shanghai. Little Billee is asked to sing, and, complying, sings an old English ditty with an interminable number of verses. The artists hear him out, and then he is recalled a second and a third time until the applause becomes too uproarious for him to continue. "I have heard Little Billee on local platforms whose ears have been too defective to detect the difference between the ring of true applause and the recall ironical."

Rumors of Russian domination in Korea have some confirmation in a vernacular paper of Osaka, Japan. It learns that the Russian Government has signed a secret convention with the Korean Government, in which the latter pledges that it will not open Mokpo for foreign trade, nor allow any other country to construct telegraph lines in the interior, nor grant a charter for construction of a railway between Seoul and Chemulpo, without first obtaining the approbation of Russia.

Some weeks ago this paper gave the news that the medical inspection of vessels in Japan, which was part of Hawaii's protection from the introduction of epidemics, had been stopped. A paper received by the Kinshiu's mail gives the reason for the stoppage, which is the gratifying fact that the black plague has disappeared.

It is to be hoped that the "new education," for which the Progressive Educator is valiantly contending, is not to be judged by the style of that periodical. Paragraphing and punctuation are both ignored in its pages to a great extent, and there are other defects that make it really injurious as a model lesson sheet.

Japanese mine owners are taking steps to push the sale of their coal in India. Her coal trade is another feature in the comparison that has given Japan the title of the "Britain of the Pacific."

The solid stone crossings that are being laid down by the Minister of the Interior's orders are the proper complement of the improved sidewalks that have appeared within the past few years.

Chinese purgatory has been cheated out of a load of fuel by the premature burning of Li Hung Chang's coffin.

Educational.

The following items are from the Progressive Educator:

The School Journal of Sept. 12 has an article on "The Educational System of the Hawaiian Towns."

One of the articles in the September Educational Foundations the leading journal in United States for professional study of teaching is by our Inspector General, Mr. H. S. Townsend, and was copied from the Progressive Educator. This goes to show that some of our teachers take high rank educationally.

Two life certificates were earned at the last teachers' examination. One by Vice Principal Lightfoot of the High School and one by Principal Abbott of Lahainaluna. We understand that the standing of Mr. Farmer would have given him one but that he had lacked some of the years of experience necessary. This is a very creditable showing when we remember that heretofore only one life certificate has ever been earned. It is moreover no light task to average 90 per cent in a thorough examination.

STUBBLE DIGGERS, SHAVERS AND CANE CULTIVATORS.

We want to call attention for a few days to three machines suitable for sugar land cultivation.

First—Avery's "MALLON" STUBBLE DIGGER, the peer of all sugar land implements. The superiority of this machine over all similar ones is evidenced by the fact that until this season the manufacturers have been unable to supply the demand for them. Their features of absolute merit are as follows:

- (a)—Metal wheels with renewable hubs.
- (b)—Solid steel teeth.
- (c)—Great strength with lightness of draft.
- (d)—Improved flanges with movable teeth.

Avery's "MALLON" IMPROVED STUBBLE SHAVER. This has lately been greatly improved and now runs on four wheels in the furrow. The knives can be raised or lowered with ease, with one lever, without stopping the team. Can be regulated to shave at any depth. The knives are protected by shields, so that it is impossible for the mules to be cut by them. There is no weight on the mule's necks. This Shaver can be turned as short as a cart and is light draft for two mules.

Third—Avery's IMPROVED "MALLON" CANE CULTIVATOR. This implement is used in the culture of both corn and cane from the first dirting of the crop, through the entire cultivating and "laying by" season. Is simple in construction, strong, durable, light draft, easily operated and understood. It has the revolving sectional discs, which work on each side of the row, thoroughly cutting and pulverizing the soil. The desired quantity of dirt thrown to the plant is regulated by changing the angle of discs on the drag bar. The operator can pass rapidly over the crop without the trouble heretofore experienced by moist earth sticking to the discs, cleaners being attached to the axle, which effectually prevents the discs from clogging.

These three valuable plantation implements are now in use at the Pepeekeo, Onomea and Wainaku plantations and we shall be pleased to show testimonial letters from the managers as to their respective merits.

To intending purchasers we would say that the prices of these machines have been materially reduced this season. We keep them in stock.

The Shoe Should Be Good

no matter what its price. There are good low-priced shoes and poor high priced ones. There are swindles in every grade. There is no protection in price though a great many people seem to think that by paying dearly they are sure to get a good shoe. Your only protection lies with and in your dealer. He should have the experience and ability to know the shoes he buys and sells. We guarantee every pair of shoes you buy here to be worth every cent you pay.
